

Last night in boulder, Colorado, a magnitude 8.7 earthquake hit in the Colorado foothills. It is the largest earthquake in Colorado history. The shift in the Rocky Mountain fault line is what has caused this. There is no further risks but the damage is very high. The quake struck many universities and colleges, over 27 students are presumed dead and many more to be discovered. Some school are completely damaged.

Boulder Mayor Chance Winklevoss, is devastated at the damage caused to his city. He said "We're very grateful that more people have not been hurt, but there are still many people that are in our thoughts and prayers. Many residents of the area are saying that it was quick, about 2-5 minutes long. Phil Romero, an Economic professor says " There has to be millions and millions of dollars worth of damage", he may be right.

Our party's plan to assist in this situation will be vital. We first need to make sure rescue teams search the rubble to find people who may be trapped in some of the collapsed building. While partnering with the Red Cross we will make sure people get taken care of and aided. Once we have a status on all missing persons, we will began to clean up. Tax dollars will be used for the clean up and some will be used to rebuild. To rebuild the community, we propose to start charities for donations to have more money to come in. It will be an expensive goal to rebuild boulder to how it was, but as a community we can achieve it. Schools will be one of the first things we will start to build Temporary housing will be built for the people who lost their homes until their houses can be re-built.
